PUBLISHED BY THE STUDENTS OF
ACHILLES HIGH SCHOOL
ACHILLES, VIRGINIA

Foreword

The staff of the 1942 edition of the "Achilles Shield" has made an honest and sincere effort to realize its privilege of recording a truly representative history of our alma mater for one year of its existence.

No greater treasure hath no man than memories, so we, the staff, present you fellow students with this fourth volume of the "Achilles Shield".

May the pictures and words herein keep alert your love for Achilles High School.

Dedication

Since this book represents a school whose watchword has been progress, it is altogether fitting and proper that it be dedicated to one who has been and is ever alert for any possibility to further the progress of Achilles High School. Therefore, we, the senior class of Achilles High School, dedicate this fourth volume of the "Achilles Shield" to our principal, Mr. Maynard W. Berryman, as a token of our respect, admiration, and affection which he so securely holds.

Class History

PROLOGUE:

As we, the seniors of Achilles High School, face graduation, the important event for which we have eagerly awaited four years, we face it with regret. Looking back over the years, we view the past four years as a play in four acts, the members of the class of '42 taking the leading roles. We are reminded of Jacques in Shakespeare's "As You Like It", who said, "All the world's a stage and all the men and women merely players". We have had our exits and entrances, and each in his time has played many parts, our acts being four ages.

ACT I

TIME September, 1938

SCENE Achilles High School

CHARACTERS:

BILLY ISHKANIAN, President

VIRGINIA SHACKELFORD, Vice President

IDA MAE JENKINS, Secretary

GWENDOLYN ANDERTON, Treasurer

ALSO, Forty timid Freshman

SYNOPSIS:

We soon learned how to adjust ourselves to the new courses, passing them with flying colors (?). We also took part in extracurricular activities, being represented in the annual county literary contest by Estelle Carmine as reader and Dorothy Rowe as speller. During this year, we lost two of our cast: Lewis Dunnaway and Bernard Lee Rabins.

ACT II

TIME September, 1939

SCENE Achilles High School

CHARACTERS:

ESTELLE CARMINE, President

NANCY BLAIR, Vice President

ALMA KING, Secretary-Treasurer

ALSO, Thirty-nine wise Sophomores

SYNOPSIS:

Having successfully passed through the "rat" stage, our members now began to branch out, becoming affiliated with the various organizations in the school. An outstanding event of this year was our attendance at the annual William and Mary Home Coming Exercises in Williamsburg, Virginia. It was this year that Estelle Carmine won the popularity contest and was crowned "Miss Achilles of 1940". It was this year, also, that William Canner, William Jordan, and Dorothy White dropped from our cast.

ACT III

TIME September, 1940

SCENE Achilles High School

CHARACTERS:

JACK POLAND, President

WALLACE ROWE, Vice President

JAMES EARL SHACKELFORD, Secretary-Treasurer

ALSO, Numerous Seasoned Juniors

SYNOPSIS:

Among the many interesting events of this year were our visits to Richmond; one, to attend the Passion Play at the Mosque, and the other to compete in the annual State Music Festival. We began to realize our real importance when we placed our order for our class rings. This year we lost Betty Mae Belvin. We were largely responsible for the organizing of the Popular Song Club, all offices being held by Juniors.

ACT IV

TIME September, 1941

SCENE Achilles High School

CHARACTERS:

ESTELLE CARMINE, President

ANNE EDWARDS, Vice President

NANCY BLAIR, Secretary-Treasurer

ALSO, Thirty-four dignified Seniors

SYNOPSIS:

We are now well on our way toward attaining our goal—graduation. This year finds our members holding responsible offices in every organization in school. This year "The Voice of Achilles", our school paper, made its debut. The English Club was also organized. Cupid has already robbed us of two of our members, Florence Green and Susie Rowe, who decided that they preferred a wedding certificate to a diploma. Billy Hall has left us to take a business position.

EPILOGUE:

It is too early to give a complete record of all the outstanding events of this year, causing Act IV to be incomplete. We all are looking forward to our trip to Washington, D. C., and our annual May Day Festival.

When the curtain falls on Act IV of the graduating class of '42, it will be with tender memories of the past four years at dear old Achilles High School that the cast will disband to seek their roles on another stage.

'42 Class Prophecy

Having returned to my home in Gloucester after an absence of ten years, I decided to go to the Edgehill Theater which I last attended in 1942. The theater had been destroyed by an air raid in 1945, but I discovered it had been rebuilt to a modern building by my old classmate, Byran Conner.

During the news reel I saw Gwendolyn Harris giving curb service to Mr. and Mrs. George Hayes (the former Miss Ann Williams), who were touring near Hollywood, California, on their honeymoon. Gwen, once "The Oomph Girl" of A. H. S., should soon be taking Ann Sheridan's place as a star.

A special feature was a very surprising one, and I was indeed very much excited. Raymond Hodges who had been traveling since graduation had taken snap shots of nearly all the Seniors in the class of '42 and had made a short movie. This was very startling.

First, I saw Gwendolyn Anderton in a neat white uniform as an experienced doctor's nurse in Newport News, Virginia.

Audrey and Doris Brown were doing a big business at A. H. S. attending to their new bakery shop.

Next I heard music. Why, of course, it was Estelle Carmine now playing with a famous orchestra. She had studied at Peabody Institute and was well on her way to success with the piano.

I saw a college and recognized the boy as Wallace Rowe. The "handsome sheik" was now training for a basketball coach at Hampden-Sydney.

The tall buildings were recognized as New York City and as the camera flashed I saw a tall, dark and beautiful girl, none other than Billie Ishkanian, a model there.

A flying field appeared. It was Langley Field where Robert Harris was a sergeant in the U. S. Army.

A car stopped before a large building, and Edith Rowe and Fannie West with Red Crosses on their white caps got out. I knew they were now doing work for the Red Cross.

As the movie changed again I saw Margie Hogge and Marguerite Brown in spotless white uniforms, leaning over a patient in Johns Hopkins Hospital, Maryland.

Next, a young lady was seated behind a typewriter in a very elaborate office of a large firm. I identified her as Ida Mae Jenkins.

A school room appeared with typewriters and desks. I immediately knew the teacher as Alma King, teaching commercial subjects.

A very familiar scene was next. I recognized it as Poland's store where I saw Virginia Shackelford and Jack Paland who were recently married, busily keeping store.

A little blond neatly dressed in a blue skating dress and white skating shoes was seen instructing skaters at Mineola Skating Rink in New York. This girl was once one of Old Mill's best skaters, Nancy Blair.

I recognized the next city as Richmond, Virginia, where Delta Dame was seen doing secretarial work for a very prominent business executive.

The last picture was one which did not surprise me. I recognized at first sight Willard Rowe, who had spent ten years in Gloucester since graduation. When I heard the music of "Here Comes the Bride", at once I knew he was marrying Alice Marie Newbill.

As I left the theater I was greeted by Mrs. Carlton Heywood (Louise Williams) who was once a jolly member at school. I also saw Raselle Deal and Dorothy Rowe who were still living in Gloucester, doing welfare work.

Almost a week has passed and I find my vacation will soon be over, but before I leave I shall spend an afternoon at Achilles High School where Jennings Phillips has taken Mrs. Harris's place as math teacher.

Tomorrow as I leave for the West Coast to resume my duties as Navy Nurse, I shall stop at Norfolk, Virginia, to see my good friend, Anne Edwards, who has become head surgeon at Norfolk General Hospital.

But wait, I see two boys dressed in U. S. Navy uniforms. Why, they are Nolton Ambrose and Lawrence Hogge, leaving on the next bus. Suddenly some one spoke to me. As I turned, I was greeted by Kathleen Dudley who was going to California where she had taken a position as a singer.

Having looked into the future of each of my classmates, I feel a sudden intense desire to be alone with my thoughts.

MARTHA DUTTON, '42

Last Will and Testament

E, the Senior Class of 1942, of Achilles High School, being of sound mind and memory, feel it is our duty to declare this our last will and testament.

1. We give and bequeath to our beloved faculty our sincere affection, our deepest reverence, and the unlimited wealth of our eternal memory.
2. Ida Mae Jenkins wills her tube of lipstick to Alice Marie Newbill.
3. To Carey Minor, Raymond Hodges wills his love for redheads.
4. Jack Poland wills his art of sleeping in class, especially math, to James Earl Shackelford.
5. Estelle Carmine wills the piano stool to Edna Haynes.
6. Anne Edwards wills her place in the Senior Room to anyone who can fill it.
7. George Hayes wills to Hugh Rowe his penny-pinching ability. (It has a way with the girls.)
8. Martha Dutton wills her ability as a flapper to anyone who can "get around" as well as she.
9. Gwendolyn Anderton wills her vocal chords to Louis Shackelford.
10. Charles Hogg wills to John Brown his absent-mindedness.
11. Nancy Blair wills her title of "Shorty" to Esther Williams.
12. Lawrence Hogge wills his bottle of Vitalis to Johnny Nuttall.
13. Audrey and Doris Brown will to the seventh grade boys the fun they had in high school.
14. To Bertha Ambrose, Delta Dame wills her giggles and occasional hysterics.
15. Wallace Rowe wills his title, "The Sheik," to Harry Jordan.
16. Jennings Phillips wills his powder and perfume to Cleward Diggs.
17. To Mayme Hogge, Gwendolyn Harris wills her "oomph". (You better collect, Mayme, for every girl wants it.)
18. Margie Hogge wills her title of "Little Kate" to her sister, Lorraine.
19. To Jennie Oliver, Billie Ishkanian wills her dramatic ability plus her costume jewelry.
20. Kathleen Dudley wills her mirror to anyone who likes to primp in class. (Please don't push, girls!)
21. Roselle Deal wills her chewing gum to Dorothy Green. (It's stale.)
22. Rose Marie Hogge wills her patriotism to someone who can also keep up the morale of the army boys.
23. Nolton Ambrose wills his wise-cracks and hunting ability to Maxwell Jordan.
24. Willard Rowe wills his football fame to Freddie Green.
25. Edith Rowe wills her quietness to Nellie Jenkins.
26. Dorothy Rowe wills to Edla Tevepaugh her soft ball ability.
27. Virginia Shackelford wills her pleasant disposition to Dorothy Hogge.
28. Ann Williams wills her gift of gab to Ruth Newton.
29. Robert Harris wills "that smile" to the girl who most appreciates it.
30. Louise Williams wills to anyone who can make as much noise as she can, her place in the Pep Club.
31. Fannie Bet West leaves her place in the cafeteria to Minnie Quillian.
32. Marguerite Brown wills her complaints to Ordale Brown

In behalf of the Senior Class, I, Byron Conner, will to the Junior Class the Senior Home Room and all the hard knocks and fun with which we have come in contact as Seniors.
